

Jan Randall

Jan Randall is an award winning composer performing original blues and jazz songs as a solo pianist/vocalist. He has worked with Otis Rush, Amos Garrett, Gary US Bonds, and Bo Diddley.

In 2008, his first solo album Good Fair World was independently released and promoted with a tour of North America and Europe to widespread critical acclaim. Last year he released Wait in Line which reached CKUA's top 10 and currently has a hit single Feel the Sun.

He also wrote and performed over 50 original comedy songs for the hit radio series The Irrelevant Show in the styles of different artists including Prince, Joni Mitchell, Loreena McKennitt, Frank Sinatra and Cher.

Currently he is co-leading Rhythm Train, a blues band with Jack Lavin (Powder Blues).

Holger Peterson (Stony Plain Records) said:

"My deep respect for Jan and his music goes way back. He is one of most well rounded, and talented composers, musicians, arrangers and producers I've worked with. Always easy going, and a ton of fun. We started doing projects together years ago and I look forward to many more."
